

CUSTOM TRAINING PROGRAMS

Wolf Robotics now offers custom training classes to fit your exact requirements. Specific training for numerous robot models and software platforms is now available at our facility or onsite at your location. Our instructors will put together a training program to cover the information required based on the type and configuration of your robot system.

Can't justify sending your workers away for training periods? Wolf Robotics will conduct the classes onsite at your location. There is no reason for not having the best trained professionals working for your organization. Arrange for the proper training and even have it dedicated to your specific needs and requirements, at your location.
